DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

2. The drawings filed on September 11, 2003 are accepted by the examiner.

Specification

3. The disclosure is objected to because the phrase "carburetorcarburetors" in the first line on page 5 of the specification should apparently be changed to --carburetors--. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicants are advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1-6, and 12-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 6,101,991 to Glover in view of U.S. Patent No. 4,086,885 to Noguchi et al. Glover (note Figures 3-6) shows an internal combustion engine intake device with a butterfly valve 20, fuel jet 60, and a downstream dividing wall forming an air duct 44 and a mixture duct 42 substantially as claimed. It would appear that Glover may not disclose that the air duct has a greater flow cross-section than the mixture duct and that the butterfly valve is offset from the longitudinal axis of the dividing wall. In any case, Noguchi et al (note Figures 1-14) teach the well-known use of an offset butterfly valve 32 and an air duct 35 with a greater flow cross-sectional area than the mixture duct 36 in an engine intake device for the purpose of ensuring proper fuel-air ratios (note col. 6, line 47 to col.7, line 10). Consequently, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to employ an offset butterfly valve and an air duct having a greater flow cross-sectional area than the mixture duct in the Glover intake device in order to facilitate fuel-air ratio control as taught by Noguchi et al.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 7-11, and 16-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. As allowable subject matter has been indicated, applicants' reply must either comply with all formal requirements or specifically traverse each requirement not complied with. See 37 CFR 1.111(b) and MPEP § 707.07(a).

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicants' disclosure. These references have been cited as art of interest to show other carburetors and intake systems.
